

Enterprise Software and Services For the Data-Driven

Empowering Companies to Break Down Barriers With Data to Make Faster, Smarter Decisions

We're an enterprise software and services company that has been around for over a decade. As a recognized leader in the supply chain and analytics space, we deliver innovative solutions and services that help organizations achieve real value today and sustain it for the future.

The COE Difference: Why Customers Choose Us?

We don't just partner with IBM, Tableau, and other leading organizations—we're an extension of them. That combined with our deep passion and expertise in B2B/MFT, supply chain, and analytics allow us to deliver measurable results, streamline workflows, and empower people to solve real business problems. We help customers strategize, build, implement, and manage their end-to-end business integration environment so they can make better-informed decisions and maximize their return on investment.

What We Offer

Syncrofy

Our powerful SaaS-based platform enhances existing IBM solutions, specifically B2B integration. Syncrofy consolidates B2B data and provides transaction and full order lifecycle visibility at the line-item level in an easily readable format. It empowers users to visualize data, discover problems before they occur, and collaborate with internal teams and trading partners.

IBM Sterling Integration

With deep expertise when it comes to IBM Sterling B2B & MFT, application modernization, cloud enablement, and legacy platform migrations—we complete every project in less time, with fewer resources, and with better outcomes.

Data Analytics

We deliver end-to-end analytics solutions and services to our clients that drive deeper insights, accelerate answers to complex challenges, and connect data sources that boost efficiency with artificial intelligence.

Most Impactful Win of 2022: United Natural Foods, Inc. (UNFI)

RESULTS

UNFI reduced support tickets and resolution times by over 75%.

THE CHALLENGE

With four major acquisitions (notably SuperValu), UNFI was struggling with integrating various supply chain platforms. This made it incredibly challenging to manage day-to-day operations leading to high levels of support issues and a lack of visibility into its order lifecycle.

HOW WE SOLVED IT

We provided the software (cross-IBM) and professional services to help consolidate on IBM Sterling B2B. UNFI now leverages Syncrofy across hundreds of end users and multiple lines of business (finance, customer service, IT) providing on-demand, human-readable dashboards, and detailed reports. Additionally, we are now UNFI's support partner across their supply chain business.
