

Monitor. Analyze. React. It's your supply chain— connected and actionable.

Syncrofy for Supply Chain (SSC) is a powerful, cloud-based data visibility platform that enables you to see and understand your supply chain data in real-time on any device, alleviating stress on IT resources and allowing your business to operate faster and smarter, immediately.

Real-time visibility to break down barriers across your supply chain

You may be surprised to know that only 6% of supply chain professionals claim to have full visibility into their supply chain. It's time for that to change. With SSC you'll have complete visibility across your network—from purchase order to shipment—and advanced, real-time analytics and insights will help you prioritize challenges and solve problems before they become major headaches.

Identify, prioritize, and resolve issues with a few clicks

With SSC, you can reconcile invoices against purchase orders, shipment documentation, and receipts to identify quantity and price discrepancies. Powerful visualization technology lets you analyze trends to compare suppliers on key metrics like fill rate, lead time, errors, and delays so you can order more from your best suppliers and work with your least efficient to improve their performance.

Eliminate fees and grow your profits

SSC will empower you to be proactive and eliminate costly fines and fees, prevent late payments and late shipments, and realize revenue faster. And with no customization or configuration required, you'll get the most accurate information with minimal work upfront.

It's like having your own supply chain advisor right by your side—anytime, anywhere.

A centralized platform and single version of the truth

Tailored for supply chain professionals, SSC consolidates information that's scattered throughout multiple systems and makes it accessible for all users in all departments. And since different departments and trading partners view and interpret supply chain data in slightly different ways, you'll have everyone on the same page without any grey area.

Create a data-driven culture around your supply chain

It may feel like a challenge, but it's easy when you have the right tool. SSC is your catalyst to developing a data-driven, self-service culture around your supply chain by enabling everyone in your organization to share information, work together, and solve problems collaboratively, without relying on IT resources.

Real, measurable results

Syncrofy for Supply Chain allows you to see the blind spots left by your other software platforms and streamline communication between your internal teams and trading partners, helping you:

Reduce revenue leakage by up to 30%

Eliminate late payments to suppliers

Dramatically improve customer satisfaction by up to 65%

Reduce chargebacks by up to 30%

Save valuable time you spend on research by up to 53%
